

TEAR SHEET

For many years I have seen magazines devoted to modeling come and go. There is only one that has had sticking power and that is TEAR SHEET. I tried to think why. Yes, it has interesting interviews with the major movers of the industry, entertaining features and an attractive design format, but so have other magazines that did not last. Recently, I got to meet Jill Johnson (editor-in-chief), H. Paul Womack Jr. (publishing director), Jason Losser (art director), and David Masden (associate publisher) and other members of the staff and I found my answer. They love what they are doing and that enjoyment is reflected in the magazine, that is the reason it is so appealing to its readers. They are not afraid to be different and take chances which is always refreshing. One issue last year that I particularly liked was devoted to up-and-coming future stars. I loved the photographs and, like most of the rest of the world, it always makes me feel good to read success stories. I am told they will be doing another issue on future stars soon. If you have any suggestions for future stars, you should get in touch with them (212-206-7631). In the meantime, I suggest you pick up the current issue.
